This is based on information received in September 2000. The Mojave claim cultural affiliation with the AhaMakav peoples, ancestral Yuman (regarding "Patayan" and "Hakatayan" as incorrect designations). Their claims area includes the AhaMakav heartland, from Hoover Dam to Blythe, 20 to 50 miles on either side of the Colorado River. They also claim cultural affiliation with "NAGRA related items" on trade routes from Northern California to Zuni MN and from Santa Barbara CA to Guaymas or Culiacan.

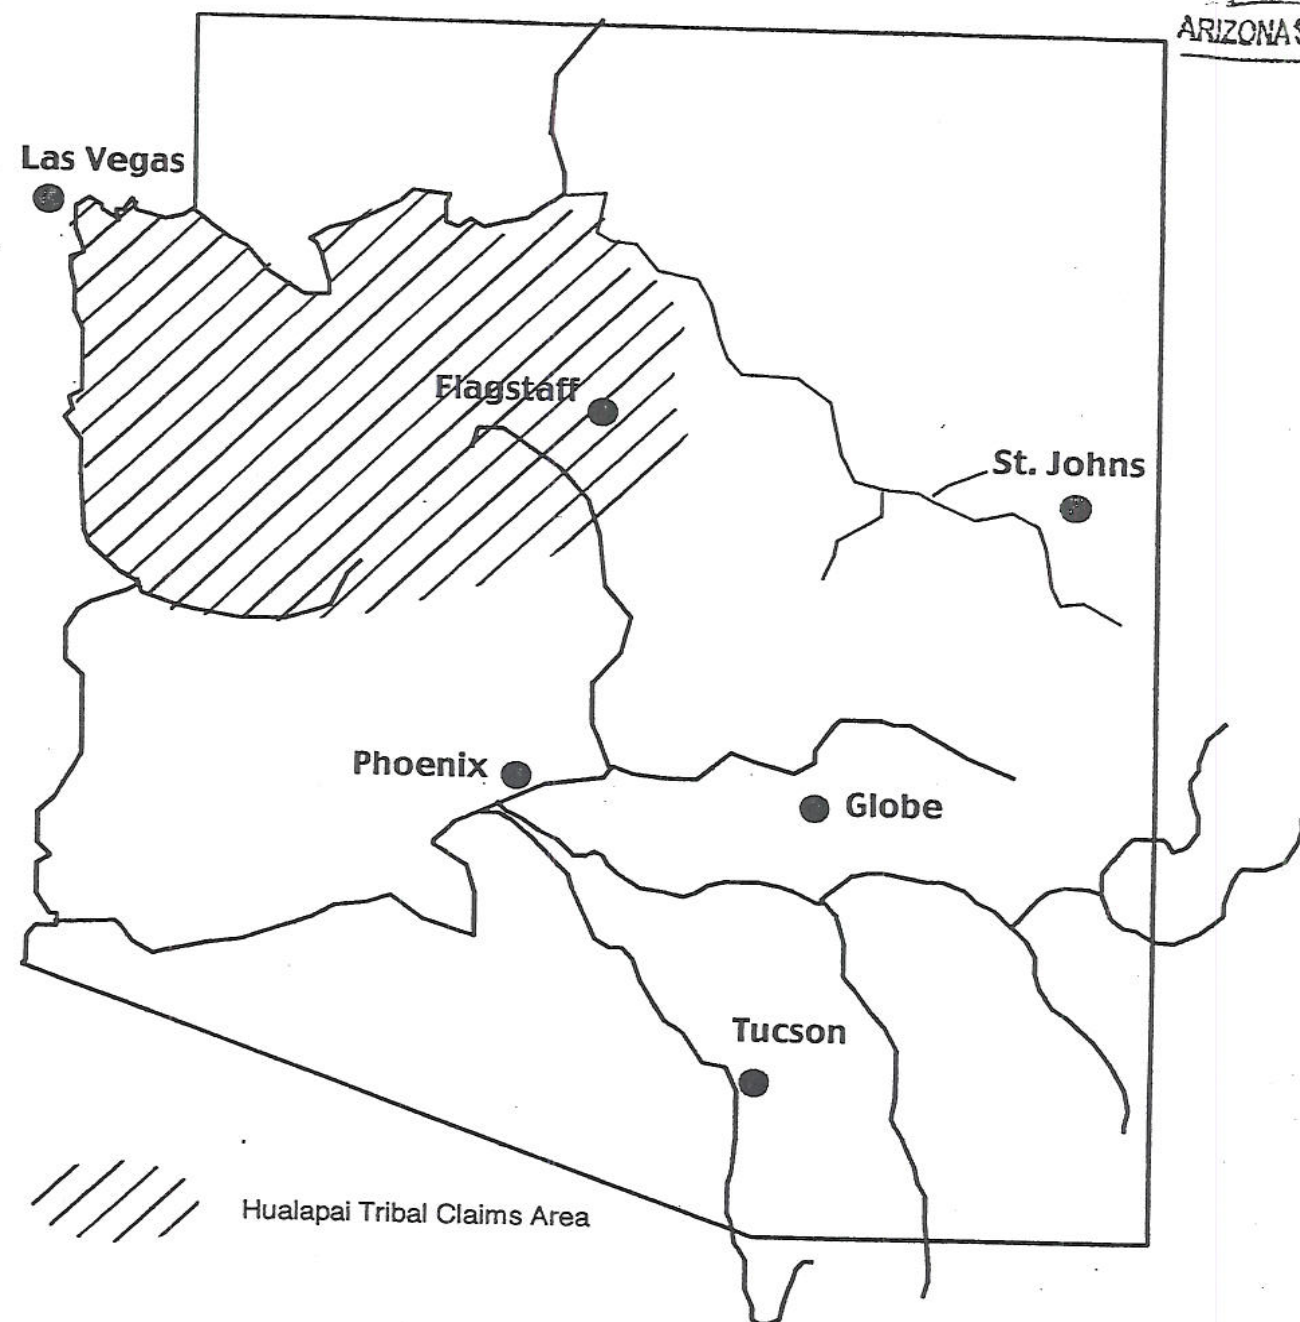

These maps represent claims areas for tribes that have provided maps or sufficient information to develop maps to the Arizona State Museum. Other tribes should also be consulted, as appropriate.

This map is based on a map of the Navajo Nation provided to ASM in August 2000.

O'odham and Pee Posh

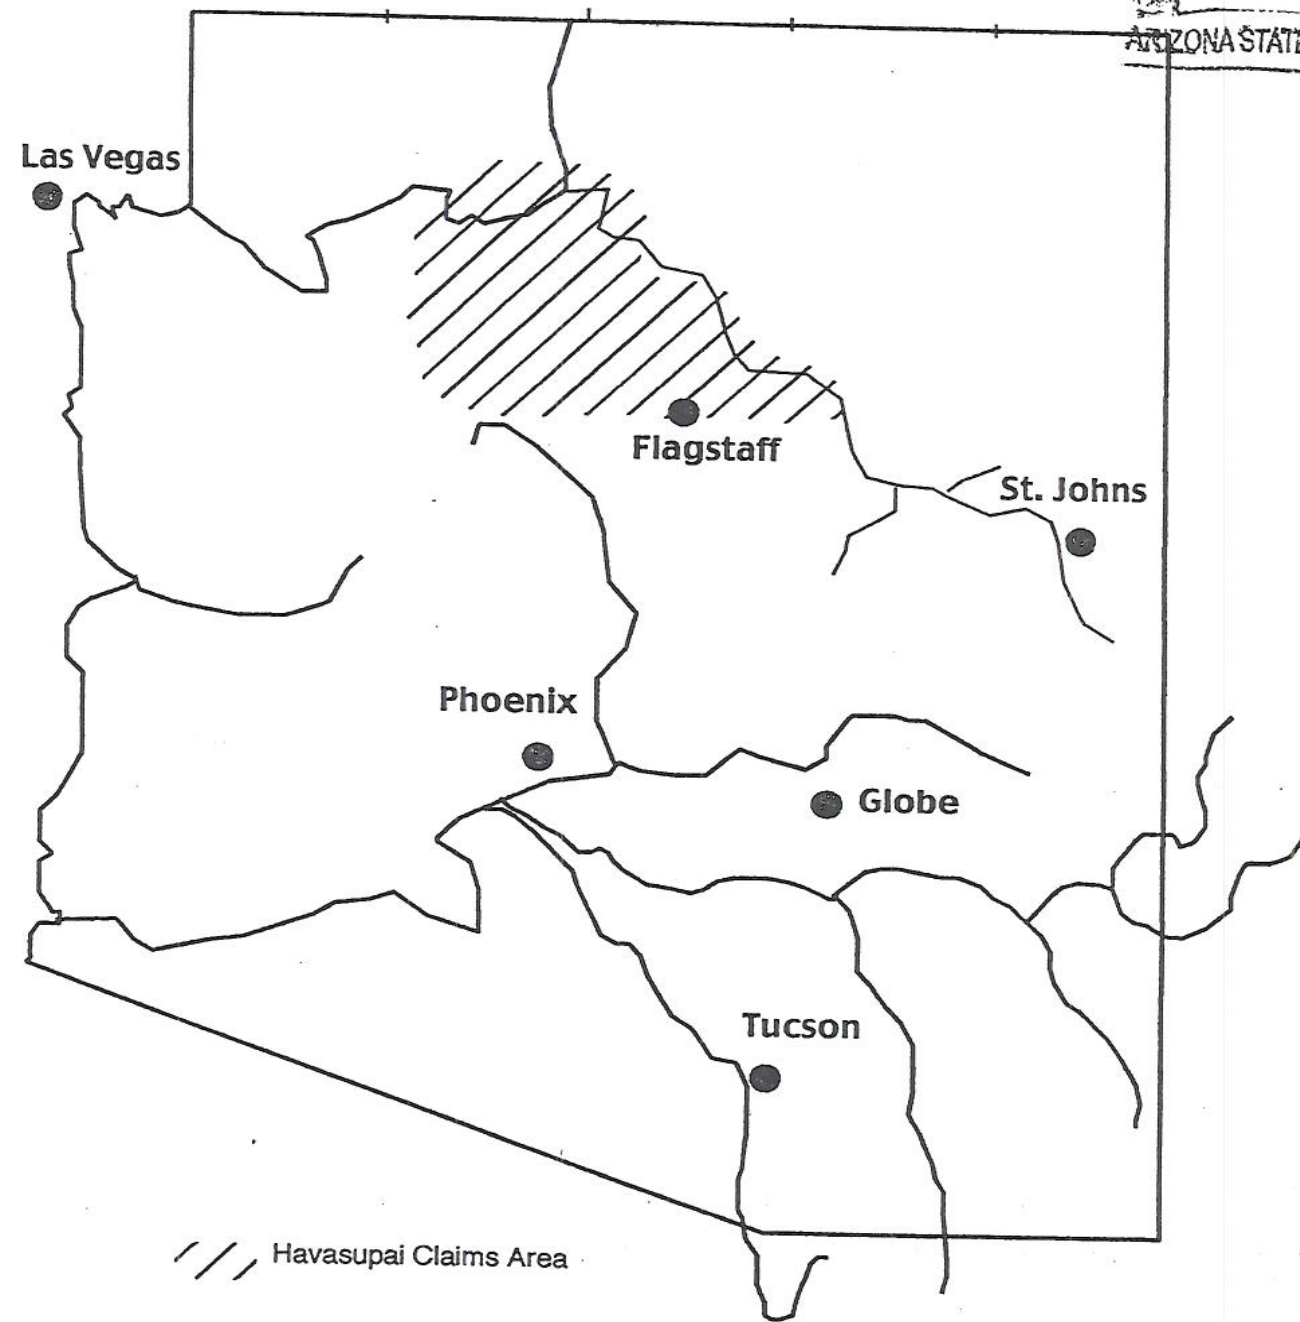

/// Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community (SRPMIC), Gila River Indian Community (GRIC), Ak-Chin Indian Community (Ak-Chin), Tohono O'odham Nation (T.O. Nation) claims areas

This map is based upon a) the information that the Hohokam tradition should be included, as well as b) land claims boundaries, and c) other information obtained during individual consultations. These tribes are interested in Pima, Pee Posh, Hohokam, and Salado traditions and Archaic sites ancestral to those traditions. For purposes of consultation efficiency, the four tribes usually divide their area geographically. Cases north of Baseline Road and east of the White Tank Mountains (approx. Palo Verde AZ along the Gila River) are handled by SRPMIC. Those south of Baseline Road, north of Picacho, and east of the Casa Grande to Maricopa Highway are handled by GRIC. Ak-Chin handles cases east of Gila Bend, north of the T.O. Nation, and west of the Casa Grande to Maricopa Highway. The T. O. Nation administers cases south of Picacho on the Santa Cruz, southwest of the White Tank Mountains, east to the San Simon river valley, and west to the Colorado River Valley. Projects that intersect more than one of these areas or that are near the boundary of multiple tribes' areas normally should consult those multiple tribes.

This claims area is taken from a map provided by the Yavapai-Prescott Tribe in July 2000, revising maps provided in 1998 and 1991. The Yavapai-Prescott claim Patayan-Yavapai and Sinagua cultural affiliation.

Yavapai-Apache Nation, Yavapai claims area

The Yavapai of the Yavapai-Apache Nation, Camp Verde AZ, wish to be consulted on all prehistoric archaeological resources and burials in the area indicated above, as well as all historic archaeological resources and burials that are of American Indian origin in the same area. This is based upon a memo dated 26 March 2001 to the Arizona State Museum, and on a conversation between Katherine Marquez of the Yavapai-Apache Nation and the Coordinator, ASM, on 30 April 2001.

/// Pueblo of Zuni Claims Area

This map is taken from information provided by Councilman Anthony Otto Lucio in a telephone conversation on July 14, 2000. Councilman Lucio indicated that the Pueblo of Zuni is not interested in claims outside their traditional land use area. He indicated that the claims area should encompass St. Johns and Showlow to the south, the Grand Canyon to the west, and Woodruff Butte. That information has been supplemented by information from A Zuni Atlas by T. J. Ferguson and E. Richard Hart, University of Oklahoma Press, 1985. The Atlas shows the Zuni land use area encompassing the area north of Mogollon Rim between the San Francisco Peaks on the west and the Sandia Mountains on the east, and falling principally south of the confluence of the Colorado and Little Colorado rivers.
